FAQ

Will I now be charged an environmental fee on these products when I buy new ones like I do for computers or TVs?

No, you will not have to pay for these electronics that are being recycled as part of the pilot project.

How long will this electronics pilot project run?

The tentative end date for the pilot is September 2022.

What happens after September 2022?

ARMA will provide the pilot data to government to determine the best course forward in recycling additional electronics for the long-term.

Who can I contact if I have questions about the electronics pilot?

Email ePilot@albertarecycling.ca with any questions or comments about the pilot.
